Farley Printing Company acquires Dover Litho Printing Company

Farley Printing Company, Inc. today announced that it has completed the acquisition of Dover Litho Printing Company (Dover, Delaware). Dover Litho, founded in 1954, is one of the leading commercial printing companies in southern Delaware.

Commenting on the announcement, Joseph P. Farley, Jr., Chief Financial Officer of Farley Printing Company, said, "Dover Litho has been a market leader in Delaware and Maryland for over four decades. Both Farley Printing Company and Dover Litho are two family-owned and operated businesses that share the same vision for the future. This acquisition should benefit each and every client of both companies as it enhances and increases our ability to provide the superior service and innovative solutions that are required in today's changing marketplace."

Dover Litho Printing Company will continue to operate in its current location as an additional production plant for Farley Printing Company. The production staff has been certified by Local 16N of the Graphic Communications Union and added to the current Collective Bargaining Agreement between Farley Printing company and the GCU.
